PFLAG Supports Door County Same-Sex Commitment Ceremony; An 'Extravagant Welcome to the LGBT Community,' Says Feyen

PFLAG – Parents and Friends of Lesbians and Gays – of Door County gives “two thumbs up” to a mass commitment ceremony to be conducted for same-sex couples by the Rev. Richard Feyen, pastor of Sturgeon Bay’s Hope United Church of Christ, on Saturday, September 21, at Stone Harbor Resort on the waterfront.

It’s projected that 250 couples will participate in the ceremony, centerpiece of “Commit with Pride,” a weekend of events scheduled for September 20-22nd throughout Sturgeon Bay and Door County.

“Unlike some of our neighboring states where marriage equality is now the law, Wisconsin has enshrined prejudice and second-class citizenship to LGBT (lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender) people in its state constitution,” said Richard Gardiner, president of the local PFLAG chapter. “Support for marriage equality, however, is rapidly growing across the country, as confirmed by the U.S. Supreme Court’s rulings released on Wednesday, June 26th.

While Wisconsin voters enacted a constitutional ban on both same-sex marriage and civil unions in 2006, the state does support bonafide domestic partnerships.

Gardiner is encouraging all PFLAG members to join in the festivities along with the committed couples, their families and friends.

“All the colors of the rainbow will be on display in Door County this autumn,” noted the Wisconsin Gazette. In addition to the spectacular display of fall foliage that makes Door County such a popular tourist destination, the “historic mass commitment ceremony” is predicted to attract thousands of visitors.

Door County tourism officials agree that the purpose of the event is to celebrate the spectacular colors of the season by appealing to a popular market niche and “doing something that’s supportive of that niche.”

In a press release announcing the event, Door County Visitors Bureau President and CEO Jack Moneyppenny said that his group “believes this promotion is socially responsible and [it] makes good business sense.”

The new promotion comes on the heels of successful advertising campaigns to the LGBT travel market over the past few years and “creates a place for loving couples to publicly commit to one another,” said Moneyppenny.

For his part, Rev. Feyen adds, “I am thrilled with the opportunity to serve a segment of our population that has been ignored, bullied, and rejected by the church in general ... and see this as an opportunity to reach out with an extravagant welcome to the LGBT community.”

His only regret, he says, is that “it cannot truly be a marriage ceremony.”

Given the rulings just released by the U.S. Supreme Court, however, it looks like it will only be a matter of time before marriage equality replaces such “substitute” or “token” marriages as civil unions and domestic partnerships for all people.

Feyen emphasizes that his church currently welcomes all people.

“While many churches say they welcome all people, Hope United Church of Christ is the only church in Sturgeon Bay that affirms as a witness statement to the broader community the presence of Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, and Transgender individuals as people equal to everyone else.”

An evening rehearsal at Stone Harbor will kick off the weekend’s events at 6 pm on Friday, September 20th. Following Saturday’s 4 pm ceremony will be a cake and champagne/punch reception. An optional hors d’oeuvre dinner is also scheduled at the resort, along with a cash bar reception, music and dancing.

Limited to the first 250 couples who register for the event, participants will receive complimentary flowers [from?], a commitment certificate signed by Rev. Feyen, a $25 Door County gift certificate, and a bottle of champagne.

More information and registration forms are online at DoorCounty.com/Commit.

Special “Commit with Pride” weekend getaway packages are being offered by a number of lodging properties around the county. Area attractions, restaurants, and retailers also have put together special offerings for participating couples.
