OUT U.S. TROOPS GATHER FOR FIRST-OF-ITS-KIND CONFERENCE

More than 200 openly gay and lesbian military personnel met at OutServe's Armed Forces Leadership Summit last weekend to attend panels and workshops aimed at addressing the unique needs of gay troops after the end of "don't ask, don't tell."

The families of gay and lesbian service members are still not treated the same under federal law as those of their straight colleagues, and some attendees said they were still not sure coming out to superiors and to co-workers was a good idea.

The conference keynote speaker, Doug

Wilson, assistant secretary of defense for public affairs, relayed a statement of congratulations from first lady Michelle Obama.
